

Go ON Open Day Nov 2011

The story that led me to getting online for the first time was, when people started asking for my email address to send me some messages. Even in my bank, they have been asking me to do online banking. Also seeing my children using the computer to buy things online, chatting with their friends on facebook, receiving and sending messages on their computer. I do feel incomplete within me.

Also I have been a communicator throughout my life. I have worked as a telephone operator, telex operator, radio telephoning operator and long-range operator which gave me the knowledge of transmitting, decoding and encoding messages and knowledge of metrological messages e.g. weather conditions for departure and arrival of aircrafts. So there is need for me to know the use of Computer to consolidate all my experiences in communication.

I am now thanking you for giving me the opportunity of getting Online which I have been try to do for some time now.

Mrs Sinmisola Saudat Babajide.
